On August 6, 1945, at 8:15 a.m., a bright flash set the sky over Hiroshima ablaze. A gigantic column of smoke rises above the city. The first nuclear bomb in history has just been dropped on the largest metropolis in western Japan. This new documentary shows this tragedy from the inside using photos taken that day.

chool girlfriend's mom was in Hiroshima the day the bomb dropped. She was on the outskirts of town and was far enough away that she was not injured but eventually lost her hair. She married an American soldier and moved to the east coast of the U.S. shortly after the war ended. She was one of the kindest women I have ever met. My mom had passed a year before I met my girlfriend. So Mrs C. always told me to call her Momma San. "You no have mother. So I you mother now" she said. I loved her so much. We stayed friends until she passed a few years ago. Her daughter and I are still great friends.

I lived in Japan for 20 years working for the US government. I never visited Hiroshima until after Covid. I breezed through the museum with little emotion. I watched this documentary and found the human emotion I had not felt while at the museum in Hiroshima explode and tears streak down my face. Let us pray this never happens again!

I detest blurring scenes, as if we're infants who need to be protected from real life. Life isn't a video game and suffering is real.

The world should thank you for taking these photographs they show how war is and what it does to those who never started it but always seem to be the ones who pay for it.

このような貴重な写真や体験談を残して下さって感謝しかないです。この動画が世界中に広まって一人でも多くの方の目に止まりますように。戦争を起こそうとしてる人は自分では戦いません。戦いたくない人が戦い犠牲になるのです。権力の為なのかお金の為なのか分からないが、こんな悔しく悲しいことがあってはならない。

One of the things I remember from the 70's is the words "the leaders should have to be the ones to fight wars they start."

コメントで争いが起きている事が辛い。どこの国が1番残酷だとか、犠牲になったとかではなく、どの国も過去を繰り返さないようにする事が大事だと思う。

о простых людей. Но к сожалению, мы все заложники тех, кто правит миром. Им нужны новые жертвы. Они ненасытны. Ненавижу

.ростые люди всего мира хотят просто жить, радоваться и дарить добро и мир друг другу. Спасибо за фильм

Мы живы пока помним о тех, кто погиб.

My friend was in the womb of her mother who was visiting her parents in a nearby village when Hiroshima was bombed. She returned and searched for her husband and two sons, but they were killed by the bomb. Even as she walked about in utter shock and grief her skin started burning off - the day after the bomb! She probably spent too much time there for the baby was born with a totally deformed spine. The baby, my dear friend, was, despite the radioactive harm done, a brilliant writer and helped in our international documents and was a pleasure to work with!

Этот фильм нужно показывать всем правителям в мире! Каждый из них должен понимать,что такое может случиться и с его страной!!! Опомнитесь,люди! У нас и так жизнь коротка, а еще и войны.

My father was a metallurgical engineer at Los Alamos.
He said that, despite the total secrecy involved, nearly everyone there knew what they were working on. Very few of them believed it would actually be used against any city or people.
We now live in a world where a single act of chest thumping or retaliation can actually end civilization as it is.…

The best documentary I have ever seen. War is literally hell on earth. Death in war knows no nationality. It takes all, young and old, the good and the bad.

This is the type of documentary everyone has to see once. I hope they show this in schools. As a teen myself this made me on the verge of tears but gave a great lesson on how horrific war is and that both sides suffer greatly.
